

British Journal of Canadian Studies

Volume 1 (1986)

Donald Simpson Ivy-Mantled Tower and Settler's Cabin: Some Thoughts on Local History in Britain and Canada	1
Catriona Dinwoodie Where is Acadia?	15
Barry M. Gough Sea Power and British North America: The Maritime Foundations of the Canadian State	31
John Douglas Belshaw Mining Technique and Social Division on Vancouver Island 1848-1900	45
Camile Girard Le Times de Londres at le Canada: L'Ere de Northcliffe 1918-1922	66
David A. Nock 'Crushing the Power of Finance': The Socialist Prairie Roots of S.D. Clark	86
David MacKenzie Jeopardised by an International Plan: Newfoundland and the Introduction of the Marshall Plan 1947-1948	109
Colin Nicholson Mother Countries: Audrey Thomas's Writing	120
Margaret Bird Continuing Education: An Examination of the Trends in Western Canada and Britain 132
Mel Watkins A Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement: For and Against	185
Tim Rooth Imperial Preference and Anglo-Canadian Trade Relations in the 1930s: The End of an Illusion?	205
Sonya Stephens Polarisation and Stereotype: The Representation of Women in Marie-Claire Blais's Visual Novel, Le Sourd dans la ville	230
H.S. Ferns Angus Graham: An Observer of Canada	238
Marjory Harper A Gullible Pioneer? Lord Aberdeen and the Development of Fruit Farming in the Okanagan Valley, 1890-1921	256
William Gilmore Newfoundland and the Paris Peace Conference, 1919	282
Alan F. Williams Bristol and C.M. MacInnes: The Canadian Dean of the Gateway of Empire	303
What's Your Beef?	149, 318