

British Journal of Canadian Studies

Volume 3 (1988)

Paul Blyton The Mandatory Retirement Question in Canada: Older Workers, Jobs and Human Rights	1
Michael Burgess Meech Lake: Whirlpool of Uncertainty or Ripples on a Millpond?	15
Edward M. Speirs Refurbishing Canada's Defences	29
Daniel Salée Revolutionary Political Thought, the Persistence of the Old Order and the Problem of Power in an Ancien Régime Colonial Society: Ideological Perspectives on Lower Canada, 1827-1838	47
John Benson Penny Capitalism and Capitalism in Canada, 1867-1914	67
 Vol 3:2 Special Issue for the Retirement of Cedric May
Alan F. Williams Cedric May	207
James Sturgis Anglicisation as a Theme in Lower Canadian History 1807-1843	210
Catriona Dinwoodie Tentative Orality: The Role of Pointe-aux-Coques and On a Mangé la Dune in Antonine Maillet's Search for a Narrative Strategy	234
Veronica Lee Gaston Miron and a Strategy for Writing	244
David L. Parris Cats in the Literature of Quebec	259
Christopher Rolfe Des Livres Importants à Redécouvrir	267
Mike Winterburn 'Americanité' in Two Recent Quebec Novels	277
Joanne Collie Anne Hébert's Ecriture Féminine	285
Colin Nicholson Of Oracles and Orreries: Graeme Gibson and his Writing	293
H.S. Ferns Mackenzie King on Television	308